

Bright House (RoadRunner) is now "BLOCKING" access to certain Internet Providers (Services) and Internet Addresses and using reverse lookups to block the use of home cable routers. Censorship is unacceptable either by government or private industry using "publicly controlled" services. Their claim is that these "certain" Internet Addresses may contain virusus, which is stupid. Actually, since the introduction of extreme wireless, they are Blocking the use of home routers because anyone withing the range of the home wireless router can connect using one account. This is their problem and other Roadrunner users should not be penalized or censored by thier actions.
